

ABSTRACT

A module cover for an airbag apparatus. The module cover includes a plate member and a leg member. The leg member extends from the back surface of the plate member. The plate member and the leg member are formed separately and joined after formation. The plate member is formed of thermoplastic elastomer.